GIRL MURDERED ON WAY TO SCHOOL

TEN-YEAR-OLD THELMA LEE IS VICTIM OF CRAZED MAN WHO SHOTS HER TWICE THEN FIRES BULLET THROUGH OWN BRAIN.

One of the most distressing tragedies that ever occurred in San Mateo county happened in San Bruno Tuesday morning, when Paul Nelson, aged 55 years, shot and instantly killed little Thelma Lee, the ten-year-old daughter of Mrs. Sena Lee of San Bruno, a widow. The child was attacked and shot twice while on her way to school in the morning, one bullet entering her head and causing instant death, the other shot being fired into her body as it lay upon the ground. The murderer afterward committed suicide when called upon to surrender by Deputy City Marshal William Kidd.

The motives that prompted Nelson to the terrible deed are unknown. The man had lived in San Bruno for eight or nine years and bore the reputation of being more than usually quiet. He had been married twice, but was divorced from his first wife and separated from the second. He was a carpenter by trade and lived alone in the small house where he shot himself when cornered by Officer Kidd.

According to the story of the shooting as brought out at the coroner's inquest held in South San Francisco Wednesday morning, little Thelma Lee and her brother, Walter, were on the way to school when they saw Nelson approaching. The children were afraid of him, according to the story the boy Walter told on the stand, and hurried away from him, but Nelson overtook them. On catching up, the man asked "Is your grandfather going to have me arrested?"

"No," said Thelma, and again started away.

"Wait, I have something for you," Nelson said, and put his hand into his pocket. He then drew a revolver and shot the child.

According to the testimony given by Charles P. McCuen, principal of the San Bruno school, he was in the office of the school near by when the boy Walter burst in, shouting "My sister is shot." McCuen hurried to where the girl lay upon the ground. Nelson was standing near, and admitted he had shot the girl, at the same time threatening McCuen with his gun. He then turned and ran to the highway. On the way he met Mrs. Lee, mother of his victim, and told her what he had done, after which he boarded a stage and rode a short distance, but seemed to change his mind, alighted and ran back to the house where he lived.

Deputy Marshal Kidd told on the stand of going to the house occupied by Nelson when he heard of the shooting. Nelson came to the window as he approached, and said "It is not necessary, Kidd." The officer, covering him, told him to come out. Nelson turned as though to do so, but a moment later the officer heard the report of a gun inside the house and, breaking the door open, found Nelson in a pool of blood with a gaping bullet wound in his temple and a smoking gun in his hand.

Nelson was well known in South San Francisco. He was employed as a carpenter by R. C. Stickle, local contractor, who states that the man's reputation was good.

That Nelson went suddenly and violently insane seems the only plausible theory for a cause for the shooting. His words on approaching the Lee children are regarded as the wandering of a madman.

Mrs. Lee is a widow, her husband having been lost at sea less than a year ago.

JUDGMENT RENDERED FOR CASEY AND DENNIS

In the case of James Casey and Jack Dennis, both of Colma, who were suing two Italians to whom they sold the lease on a ranch at Portuguese

DOCTOR AND NURSE BEFORE JUDGE JOHNSON

Proprietor of Salada Beach "Mystery Castle" and Nurse Employed There Are Arraigned.

Both Dr. Galen R. Hickok, proprietor of the Salada Beach "mystery castle," which it is believed he maintained as a sanitarium where illegal operations on women were performed, and Miss Cleo Tevis, nurse employed at the place, have appeared before Judge Ellis C. Johnson and been arraigned. Dr. Hickok appeared last Friday afternoon and Miss Tevis Saturday. The doctor was liberated on $3000 bail furnished in the form of Liberty bonds. The bail for Miss Tevis was set at $1500 cash or $3000 bonds, because of the failure to obtain which the nurse has spent the week since her arrest in the county jail at Redwood City. According to District Attorney Franklin Swart, the woman has admitted to him having been in similar difficulties in New York City and to having to leave New York for that reason.

Dr. Hickok faced court and spectators calmly, though showing the effects of the week's strain. Miss Tevis collapsed in court and had to be revived. She reclined in the arms of the jail matron from Redwood while in court and drove away after her hearing, still being supported by her woman companion.

All efforts to locate Dr. Reinhart Allen, the woman doctor who had offices adjoining those of Dr. Hickok in the Pantages building in San Francisco and who is suspected of taking part in many of his operations, have so far proven fruitless.

The specific charge on which Dr. Hickok and Miss Tevis will be prosecuted is the performing of an illegal operation on Mrs. Bertha Casteel of San Francisco. The two other young women found at the "castle" with Mrs. Casteel when the place was raided by the officers are both minors and in all probability will not be brought into court.

PLAYERS' CLUB MAKES FIRST BOW TO THE PUBLIC

The Players' Club of All Souls' Church held a successful theatrical performance at the South San Francisco high school last Saturday night, this being the organization's first public appearance. The evening's entertainment consisted of three one-act sketches. The members of the club are all local young people and the way they took their various parts showed careful preparation. The club expects to hold several public entertainments this winter.

SAVE ELECTRICITY!

To the Citizens of South San Francisco:

An acute shortage of electricity now exists throughout northern and central California because of the shortage of rains last winter. The State Railroad Commission, State Power Administrator, and the Pacific Gas and Electric Company have asked that all unnecessary use of electric current be stopped, that growing crops where electricity is used in irrigation and other essential uses be not placed under hardship for lack of power. To this end I urge all residents of this city as a public-spirited duty to economize in every way possible in their use of electricity.

G. W. HOLSTON, Mayor.

Hill, Judge W. J. Smith has rendered judgment for Casey and Dennis in the sum of $110. The plaintiffs sued for $208, the alleged value of some water pipe, a quantity of barley for hog feed, and a large pile of bones. Judge Smith did not uphold them in their claims for the pipe, his opinion being that as the pipe was underground and necessary for the irrigating of growing crops, it should go with the place.

Big Flag Taken to Metz by K. of C.

Little children of fifteen nationalities at the home of the Sisters of Christian Doctrine, New York, saluting Supervising Director Michael S. Hogan of the Knights of Columbus as they hold the big United States flag which will be used at the unveiling of the statue of Lafayette in Metz by the K. of C.

Is the soil of South San Francisco fertile? Listen, all ye of little faith or who think that this is a strictly industrial city. Herein a tale will be unfolded that will prove beyond the possibility of doubt that when a certain great man once said "You have but to till the soil with a hoe and it will laugh in the harvest," he might well have had the soil in and around South San Francisco in mind.

B. J. Rodondi of this city decided in December of last year to cultivate an acre of land just across the way from where his home stands on Miller avenue. The soil of this acre is not different from that of practically every other acre in town so far as the eye can see.

January 1st Rodondi planted the tract to potatoes. Early in May the potatoes were dug and yielded a harvest of 205 boxes, which paid Mr. Rodondi $957. And never did better potatoes grow than some of those in Mr. Rodondi's patch. A number were so big and smooth and fine they were put on exhibition at the Land Company's office.

In June the land was plowed and planted to pole beans. The latter part of August picking was begun on the beans. Already the beans have been picked four times and the end is not yet. It will be well toward the end of September before the last string beans are gathered. Mr. Rodondi states the bean crop will return him $400.

For potatoes $957. For beans $400. For the two crops $1357, gross. Expense for both crops, according to Mr. Rodondi's carefully kept accounts, will fall a trifle short of $500, leaving a net profit of $850 from one acre.

Has South San Francisco good soil? We'll say it has.

ALL SOULS' CHURCH INSTALLS FINE BELL

Of Finest Metal, Splendid Instrument Is Gift of Mrs. Harrington.

For some days South San Franciscans have listened daily to the mellow tones of a fine new bell, recently installed in the belfry of All Souls' Church. For many reasons this bell is worthy of more than passing note. It was a gift to the local church from Mrs. Delia Harrington, proprietor of the Capitol Hotel, and a devoted member of the church. It is a bell of 1500 pounds weight and is of the finest quality metal, as the mellow harmony it voices attests. There are few bells in this part of the state of a quality of metal such as Mrs. Harrington's gift to All Souls' Church possesses. Many bells are of steel and lack the true melody of tone supposedly typical of a church bell. This bell is of the true bell metal, an alloy of copper, silver, tin, and other substances. At present such bell metal is quoted at $1 a pound, the gift in question being valued at $2000.

'TAS WORSE THAN FLU.

A sudden epidemic of lame backs, sore arms, and blistered hands has affected a number of prominent business men of this city. The victims are E. C. Peck, Ambrose McSweeney, Henry Haaker, Andrew Hynding, George Kneese, and Dr. F. S. Dolley. The painful maladies were contracted last Sunday when the men named journeyed to Boulder Creek to help dig a cesspool at Dr. Dolley's summer home. So suddenly and painfully did the physical ills mentioned descend upon the devoted little group that although they had come many miles to wield the pick and shovel, the work actually devolved upon W. L. Hickey and Walter Bills, who were on the ground for the sole purpose of plumbing as only expert plumbers can plumb.

The climate at Boulder Creek is seemingly dangerous for those engaged in manual labor, as a stop-watch record kept of the time it took each of the aforementioned gentlemen to become incapacitated for further efforts after taking the instrument of toil in his determined grasp, reveals the following:

Peck	1 minute
McSweeney	.25 seconds
Haaker	.40 seconds
Hynding	.30 seconds
Kneese	1 1/2 minutes
Dolley	2 minutes

It is reported that the five stricken men retired immediately to the four beds in the house and that Dr. Dolley, in spite of his own sufferings, was forced to spend the remainder of the afternoon endeavoring to ease the agonies of his guests.

METAL AND THERMIT CO. GET BUILDING PERMIT

Plant to Include Several Buildings at Approximate Cost $100,000.

The Metal and Thermit Company has taken out a building permit of City Clerk McSweeney, and it is expected that work will start soon on its big factory between the Virden packing plant and the Growers' rice mill in this city. The permit calls for an office building, 40x120 feet, of concrete and tile; a gatehouse, 40x120 feet, of concrete and tile; a welding shop, 40x120 feet, of frame, fireproof; a storehouse, 40x120 feet, fireproof; a manufacturing shop, 60x200 feet, of steel; a boiler house, 40x41 feet, of concrete and tile, and a garage, 20x60 feet, frame. The approximate cost of the building is given as $100,000. Bates & Rogers of San Francisco are the contractors for the building.

The big bell was raised to its present position by a number of young men of the parish headed by Charlie McGrath, Tom Schmidt, and Eddie Sheehan. Considering the weight of the instrument and the fact that it was raised to a height of nearly seventy-five feet, it was a noteworthy accomplishment.

CONTRACT FOR CITY STREET SWEEPING LET

Nazarino Medeghini Gets Job; City Urged to Economize in Use of Electric Power.

Nazarino Medeghini will hereafter have charge of the street cleaning in South San Francisco. This is the result of the recent resignation of J. M. Costa, who formerly had charge of the street sweeping, and the advertising for bids for this work by the city. These bids were opened at a trustees' meeting Tuesday night and Medeghini's was found to be the lowest. There were eight bids offered, as follows:

Jack Vaccarri	$225
Paul Briones	275
A. G. Bissett & Son	300
W. G. Owens	250
Felice Bronechini	250
Peter Barrateri	224
G. Silvernail	275
Nazarino Medeghini	200

A communication was received from the Pacific Gas and Electric Company urging the reduction of the use of electric power in every way possible because of the great power shortage at present prevailing throughout the northern part of the state. The company recommended the disuse until winter rains start of all unnecessary window and street lighting in the town. The power company stated in its letter that because of the power shortage the city lights would be turned off two hours earlier than usual.

Letters were also received from the railroad commission and from the state power administrator on the subject of the acute power shortage, and making recommendations that all possible steps be taken to cut down the use of electric energy. The city marshal was instructed to inform the merchants of the city to cut out all unnecessary use of electricity for window and sign illumination until further orders.

City Attorney J. W. Coleberd brought up the matter of breaks in the sidewalks here and there in town that might be the cause of injury to pedestrians and lead to damage suits against the city. Most of these breaks are caused by tree roots. Steps to mend the breaks will probably be taken later.

Reports of city officers were read and ordered filed. A number of bills against the city were audited by the finance committee and ordered paid.

E. BOININO FINED FOR SHOOTING PROTECTED BIRDS

E. Boinino, an employee of the steel mill in South San Francisco, is quite sure he will be more careful in future who he asks for a ride on the highway. Recently Boinino purchased a fine new $100 shotgun. Naturally he wished to test the gun and his own prowess as a hunter, so sallied forth. After a few hours he stopped a passing auto to ask for a ride home. In the auto happened to be Game Warden Jack Burke. Boinino began showing his fine new gun.

"Did you have any luck hunting?" asked Burke.

"Oh, yes, fine luck," the man replied, showing the contents of his game bag. In it was a hawk, a woodpecker, and a number of small songbirds.

"You shall have a ride, all right," Burke assured him, and straightway drove to Daly City and took Boinino into Judge Johnson's court. "I'll fine you $25 for killing protected birds," said his honor, and Boinino paid.

THELMA LEE BURIED AT SAN BRUNO THURSDAY

Little Thelma Lee, murdered by Paul Nelson at San Bruno Tuesday, was buried Thursday afternoon. The funeral was from the home of the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moe of San Bruno. The services, conducted by the Rev. Del Norte Winning of the Methodist church, drew a large gathering of sympathizing friends of the family. Floral offerings in great profusion were heaped about the little bier. Six small boys, schoolmates of the murdered girl, acted as pallbearers. They were Herbert Holliday, Jack Lindsay, Neal Forster, Milton and Albert Bevelockway, Milton Reynolds. Burial was at Cypress Lawn Cemetery.

TAX RATE FOR COUNTY NOT RAISED

SUPERVISORS FIX FIGURES AT LAST YEAR'S RATE; FUNDS FOR COLMA FIRE DISTRICT REFUSED ON DIST. ATTORNEY'S ADVICE.

That the county tax rate will not be raised for the coming year above last year's figure of $2.05 inside cities and $2.55 outside, will be good news to property owners the county over. Because of the increase during the last year of practically everything in any way used in county government and especially because of the substantial increases in the salaries of school teachers in many districts of the county, it has generally been expected that the rate would have to be raised to meet the county's financial needs, but careful figuring on the part of the supervisors and Auditor Shields and deputies has resulted in the rate being set at last year's figure.

Several changes were made in appropriations. The general fund will get 4.4 cents less than last year, while the salary fund is also reduced 4 cents. The school fund is increased from 44 cents to 50 cents to meet salary increases. The social service fund gets 4 cents more than last year. Road funds remain the same, while 40 cents is again allowed for a county hospital site and building fund.

By a vote of three to one the supervisors at their meeting Tuesday refused to grant the request of the fire commissioners of the recently formed fire district at Colma to levy a special tax to raise $10,000 this fall for the purpose of purchasing fire apparatus. This action of the board followed a hearing in the matter that consumed several hours. Opposing the request for the tax levy were a large number of property owners outside the limits of the unincorporated town of Colma, who through their counsel claimed that the proceedings connected with the formation of the district were illegal and that the commissioners had no right in forming the boundaries for the district. Judge John Davis of Burlingame represented the fire commissioners at the hearing and made a strong fight before the supervisors to have the levy made. Among the attorneys appearing for the contesting property owners were Judge Edw. F. Fitzpatrick and Ross & Ross of Redwood City and A. F. Burke of San Francisco, the latter looking after the interests of Archbishop Hanna and Holy Cross Cemetery.

In voting to refuse the tax levy, the supervisors acted on the advice of District Attorney Swart, who took exception to the manner in which the proceedings for the formation of the district had been carried out and who contended that the commission had gone far beyond what the law allows in defining the boundaries for the fire district.

A petition signed by thirty residents of Colma, asking for the installation of an additional light on Third avenue, between Castle and Market streets, was received. On motion of Hickey, seconded by Thompson, the petition was granted.

CITY TRUSTEES HOLD SHORT MEETING WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The South San Francisco city trustees held a short adjourned session Wednesday night, the principal order of business being the going over with the architect of plans for lighting fixtures in the new city hall. A series of fixtures that will be in keeping with the beautiful building were chosen and plans and specifications for them decided upon.

Another matter taken up at the meeting was the calling upon the carpet of Peter Pala, proprietor of the Central Hotel, and G. Venturi, proprietor of the New Italian Hotel, for building operations not in accordance with their building permits. In Mr. Pala's case the matter was adjusted. In the Venturi case the violation was more flagrant, and the board members decided to personally inspect the property Friday afternoon before deciding what would be done in the matter.

FLOYD JOHNSON JOINS THE LIST OF CHAMPION SLUGGERS

Floyd Johnson of South San Francisco, a steel worker, has joined the ranks of the pugilists and with a single leap, as it were, has found himself in the championship class. Johnson was entered in the Bulletin's Labor Day bouts in San Francisco and knocked out Jack Morris of Oakland, thereby winning the heavyweight amateur championship of the state. After the match Johnson was signed up to fight at the Olympic Club September 22d for the amateur heavyweight championship of the Pacific Coast. The fight on Labor Day was Johnson's first public appearance, and the distinction of winning a championship at his first battle is unique.

REEVES WINS FIGHT IN TULSA ON LABOR DAY

Jack Reeves of South San Francisco, the boxer whom many of his local friends are confident is the coming middleweight champion of the world, has added another scalp to the string of coiffures at his belt, and incidentally moved up another notch toward the championship. His opponent this time was George Chip of Chicago, the fight taking place at Tulsa, Okla. The bout lasted for twelve rounds, the dispatches saying that Reeves had the better of the argument from the start. Reeves is expected back in San Francisco this week.

DON FUNGE TO APPEAR IN COURT HERE ON SEPT. 16

Don Funge, the Colma cattleman arrested in Los Angeles recently on a charge of non-support of his minor children, the charge being sworn to by his wife, will be given his preliminary hearing in Judge W. J. Smith's court September 16th. Funge was admitted to bail recently in the sum of $1500, John Zaro and A. Baradat being his bondsmen.

SAN BRUNO LOCALS

"Bud" Maier spent the last week-end at San Jose visiting relatives.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. Rathke of Belle Air last Saturday.

Mrs. A. D. Coturri and daughter, Amelia, returned from a week-end vacation at Guerneville.

Miss Hilda Carstens of San Francisco is visiting her sister, Mrs. G. Rafter, of Belle Air Park during a part of her vacation.

C. P. McCuen, superintendent of the Northbrae and Edgemont schools, is at present living at the Dwyer residence in Huntingdon Park.

The Parent-Teacher Association is planning to give a novel affair on Saturday, November 6th, at California Hall. Something new in the line of novelties will be put forward.

August Jenevein and family have moved to Sonoma county, where Mr. Jenevein has a large interest in the Duncan Mills property. Mr. Jenevein was the owner of the Cabin Garage for several years and during the last two years has been fire chief.

A large crowd of camping enthusiasts of San Bruno spent the week-end holidays camping and hiking at Camp Taylor in Marin county. Every one reported a good time, notwithstanding the weather. Some caught cold and others caught poison oak.

CELEBRATE COTTON WEDDING.

Friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Daneri (nee Beatrice LaReaux) helped to celebrate their cotton wedding anniversary recently at the young couple's home.

Whist was played amid artistic decorations of pink flowers and green ferns. Beautiful prizes were awarded to the winners and consolation prizes to the losers. Dancing and refreshments followed, with everybody enjoying themselves to the utmost. The party is said to have lasted into the wee small hours of the next day, but none seemed to care at such a happy affair. The guests departed wishing the happy couple the best of sincere good wishes for their future happiness. Among those present were Mrs. C. Carrade, Louis Rosenblum, Miss Louise Carrade, Miss Rena Irwin, Al Carrade, Mr. and Mrs. W. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. W. Marshall Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. A. LaReaux, Eugene Daneri Jr., Wilfred LaReaux, Mr. and Mrs. E. Daneri, and Paul Daneri.

PLANNING WHIST PARTY AND DANCE AT TAVERN

The San Bruno Y. M. I. and Y. L. I. are planning a joint whist party and dance at Cheetham's Tavern for Saturday evening, September 18th. An invitation to attend is extended to everybody.

"We want no hearsay testimony," said the judge severely. "We must have evidence which no one dare dispute."

"That's what I am giving you," said the witness. "My mother-in-law told me this."

NIGHT SCHOOL NOW HAS GOOD ATTENDANCE

The San Bruno evening high school began sessions Wednesday evening with a good attendance. Although organization of the school has been completed, registration will go on for the next two weeks. Some forty-odd pupils have registered for various courses and there is still room for at least twice this number.

Courses in penmanship and spelling, bookkeeping, commercial English, commercial arithmetic and Spanish are being offered in San Bruno. Courses in stenography and typewriting are to be given only in San Mateo, due to the fact that it is impossible at the present time to obtain sufficient typewriters for this school. For the convenience of those who wish to take up this work at San Mateo the school bus will leave from the postoffice at twenty minutes to 7 Monday and Wednesday evenings. To date twelve pupils have signified their intention of taking up these courses. Students here who wish to take up instruction in woodworking and mechanical drawing should take the same bus on the same evenings. The school in San Bruno will be held on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7:15 to 9:30 o'clock every week.

BASEBALL.

The San Bruno firemen were defeated by the Associated Terminals in a seven-inning game Sunday by a score of 14 to 2. Shaunnessy, pitching for the firemen, hurled a fine brand of ball but lacked support at all times. He really deserved to win, but his teammates lost themselves in a cloud of errors and when the smoke finally cleared away the firemen were on the short end of the score. H. Schmidt drove out a three-bagger for the firemen. F. Schmidt and Tom Convey each secured hits, but three hits do not win a loosely played ball game. Come, you firemen. Buck up and give the battery first-class support in the games that are to be played from now until the season is ended.

CHURCH NOTICE.

At Evang. St. John's Church, Sunday, September 12th, divine services at 10:45 a. m. Topic of pastor's sermon, "Anxious Care." At the close of the service holy communion will be administered.

Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. A religious education should be the heritage of every child. We extend a hearty invitation to all who as yet do not attend a Sunday school. This school is always conducted in the English language.

Next Tuesday afternoon the Ladies' Aid Society meets for its monthly business session. Several matters of importance are to be considered and all members are urged to be present.

A CORRECTION.

Fellow Citizens: We wish to correct an error in our letter which appeared in the August 25th issue of this paper. The sentence which read "A motion made by Trustee Kane was seconded and passed..." should have read "A motion made by Trustee Palmer was seconded and passed..." Trustee Kane was in no way involved in this action.

TRUSTEES MEET IN REGULAR SESSION

Act to Pave Streets and Purchase Water Systems in Spite of Objections Offered.

The regular order of business was dispensed with at Wednesday night's meeting of the trustees in order to take up the matter of protests regarding improvement work for San Bruno proper, First addition and portions of Third addition, and also to hear protests as to the purchase of the three water systems owned by Robert Hayes Smith. Due to the fact that only two protests were received regarding the proposed improvements, the trustees moved the protests be overruled and the work carried out as planned.

Two protests regarding the purchase of the proposed water system, one from an individual and the other signed by thirty-nine members of the Fifth Addition Improvement Club, were received. Trustee Kane protested against the proposed purchase on the grounds that the previous boards of trustees had not taxed the property because it was not a paying proposition, and that therefore the property was not worth buying. After considerable discussion, in which Trustee Palmer urged that the matter be laid before the public, the protests were overruled and the work ordered done according to previous arrangements. A point brought out was that an entire new system at present would cost more than to repair the present system and put it in first-class condition.

The special order of business was then laid aside for regular business. Regarding the sewer outlet in the Mills estate east of Third addition, City Attorney John F. Davis reported that accompanied by R. H. Smith, present owner, and Trustee J. T. O'Connor he had gone over the ground and had found that a roadway now exists which crosses this outlet, thus breaking some of the pipe. Mr. Smith, Attorney Davis reported, is willing to pay all charges in connection with the delivery and furnishing of pipe needed to make the necessary repairs providing the city will furnish the labor and stand the expenses of installing. This offer was accepted. City Attorney Davis further stated the city could enforce observance of all laws pertaining to the damaging of such property, especially if the health of the community was endangered. The city attorney was instructed to confer with the Mills estate regarding the ownership of such a right of way through the property.

A permit was granted to A. Babkirk to erect a dwelling house in Third addition.

A permit was granted J. Hedgeburg to tear down several sheds on the rear of his property and to erect one shed to take their place.

A large number of claims were presented and ordered paid.

A communication was received from S. Della Maggiori, requesting that sewer pipes be installed on San Mateo avenue in front of his place of business. The matter was ordered referred to the board of public works.

A communication received from the Railroad Commission and signed by the power administrator, requested that every effort be made to curtail the use of electrical energy for purposes of lighting street signs, display windows, etc., at all times. The request also referred to use in private residences. Mayor A. S. W. Grundy requested the citizens of the city to save both electricity and water wherever possible.

City Clerk Nettie A. Willits reported that the Pacific Gas and Electric Company had notified her by telephone that while the Cabin Garage had changed hands, the new owner stands ready and willing to take charge of the fire apparatus now stored there under the same conditions that previously existed. A motion was passed that the apparatus be stored at the Cabin Garage under the same conditions as formerly. Regarding the placing of another chemical tank on the same engine, Commissioner Kane stated this matter is being considered.

A suggestion made by Trustee Kane that the Belgrano shack be moved to Sylvan avenue crossing to provide a shelter for people waiting for the street cars brought forth a motion, which was passed, instructing the City Clerk to write to the United Railroads Company requesting the erection of a waiting room at Sylvan avenue crossing.

A resolution calling for the purchase of the various water systems existing within the city, introduced by Trustee O'Connor and seconded by Trustee Smith, was passed.

A resolution ordering street improvement work in San Bruno proper, First, addition and portions of Third addition was passed. Wednesday evening, September 22d, was set as the date when sealed bids for the installation of this work are to be opened.

An ordinance making it a misdemeanor to waste water was referred to the water board before final action is taken by the trustees.

City Marshal W. Wedell reported that Mr. Gorman, owner of the objectionable shack in Fourth addition, and Mr. Solmers of San Bruno proper had failed to stay long enough at the meeting to answer the complaints which had been lodged against their unsightly residences. City Attorney Davis was instructed to draw up a sanitary ordinance which will take care of these and similar cases, and more particularly the case of the Sabel property in San Bruno proper.

The matter of a partly finished dwelling in Third addition was brought to the attention of the trustees. This house was started several years ago, but did not conform to the building ordinance and work was ordered stopped until such time as the ordinance was complied with. Recently work was begun again, but as yet the building does not conform with the ordinance. A motion was passed authorizing the printing of notices stating that the building does not conform with the city building ordinance and that any further construction will render the owner liable to arrest. City Marshal Wedell was instructed to post one of these notices on the premises and to take any further action necessary.

The matter of running a street through the Cunningham property to continue Huntington avenue between San Mateo avenue and San Bruno avenue west of the United Railroads' tracks came up for discussion, and was set aside for future action.

Trustee Kane reported that directly west of H. A. Bewley's residence in the Buri-Buri Tract was an old abandoned well, partly filled with water and poorly covered. This was declared a menace to little children, and the matter was referred to the board of health with instructions to get in touch with the owners of the property and have same put in a safe condition.

A motion was passed setting Thursday, September 16th, as the date of an executive session of the board of trustees, at which time the matter of reorganizing the fire department will be taken up along with the request of Marshal Wedell for a motorcycle. The poundman situation will also be taken up at this meeting.

Charles Rockhill of Fifth addition reported that a dead animal had lain beside the railroad tracks for several days and was beginning to be a menace to health. The matter was referred to the board of health for immediate action. Mr. Rockhill was informed that it was not necessary to wait until the trustees met in regular session before making such a complaint, and that the board of health will always take care of matters of this kind if notified.

Mayor A. S. W. Grundy made a few remarks, bringing out the fact that "the city is on the map and the next year will see it go even further." He stated that by purchasing the water system under the assessment plan it is possible to force idle landowners and tax-dodgers to pay their taxes within twelve months or face the penalty of losing their land, instead of the usual five years allowed, and that the whole "proposition is good business." He further stated that the purchase of a water system and the improvement of the streets by paving will do more to boost a town along than anything else. Speaking with reference to the municipal market, he urged that every citizen plant all vegetables possible this winter, to have a sufficient supply to sell at the market next year.

Farm tractors are no longer farm tractors in Great Britain. They are "agrimotors."

COURSING MEET.

The coursing meets held under the auspices of the San Mateo County Coursing Club are drawing larger crowds as the season advances. Last Sunday's attendance was good and the races were the most exciting for some time, due to the fact that the hares were fast. In several of the races it was necessary to call for extra dogs. Leitorn Lass won the Colma handicap from Steam Belle by default, owing to the fact that Steam Belle had two hard courses during the elimination courses. Sweet Marie won the Consolation handicap from Black Jack in a hard-fought race. Mission Tip Toe, Mayor Rolph's pride, won the Futurity handicap from Oakland Hero in one of the best matches of the day.

A "Pat" Answer.

The teacher was trying to be up-to-date and explain monarchies. The pupils seemed to understand what she told them.

"Now," asked the teacher, "if the king dies, who rules?"
"The queen," suggested one little girl.

"Yes, under certain circumstances which I shall explain later, that is true," said the teacher. "Now, if the queen dies, who takes her place?"

Silence reigned for a moment, then a boy ventured to reply.
"The jack," he said.

He Was Right.

"Is there anything more exasperating than to have a wife who can cook but won't do it?" said one man to another.

"Yes, indeed," said the other; "to have one that can't cook and will do it."

SAFETY FIRST IN JAPAN.

A returned traveler brings home the following Japanese rules, as "done into English," for the benefit of the foreign automobile driver in that country:

"You must drive your automobile at the speed of eight knots per hour on the city roads, and at twelve knots per hour on the country roads.

"When you see the policeman throwing up his hands, you must not drive in front of him.

"When you get ahead of the passenger on foot or the horse, you must ring the horn.

"When you meet the cow or the horse speed slowly, and take care to ring the horn and not be afraid of them. Drive slowly when you meet the horse or the cattle, do not make them afraid, and carefully make the sound. If they are afraid of the sound, you must escape a little while at the side of the road till they pass away.

"Do not drive the motor car when you get drunk, and do not smoke on the driver seat."

"Twas eventide. The small lad stood on the bridge slapping his hands vigorously. Beyond the brow of the hill a dull red glow suffused the sky.

"Ah, little boy!" remarked the stranger, who was a little nearsighted, "it does my heart good to see you appreciate yon cloud effect."

"Yes, sir," replied the lad, "I've been watching it for ten minutes."

Upon the boy's face there appeared a smile of perfect bliss.

"A real poet without a doubt, and do you watch the sunsets often, little boy?"

"Sunsets? Why, that ain't a sunset, gov'nor, that's the village schoolhouse burning down."

Why Repeat?

They had hash on Monday for dinner, after a roast of beef on Sunday, as happens in all well-regulated families. Father had said grace, when Bobbie said:

"I don't see why you asked another blessing this evening, father. You did it yesterday over this. It's the same old stuff."

"Judge" Will Have Its Little Joke.

Willis—Have you shut down your plant? I was out there today and there was hardly anybody around.

Gillis—No, we're still employing our full force of 500 men. A committee of 300 has gone to the state labor convention and the other 200 left on a special train for Washington this morning to protest against something or other.—Judge.

A NEW SCHOOL TRUSTEE.

E. N. Brown, for a long time a member of South San Francisco's school board, will leave this city soon to make his home elsewhere. This means that a new school trustee must be chosen to fill the vacancy. Who shall it be?

The Enterprise believes there are few positions in our scheme of government or education more important than that of school trustee. The school board chooses those who have the shaping of the budding intellect of the children for five days out of seven. The school teacher, somebody has said, puts the welding heat on the destinies of our children. The shaping of the future lies in the hands of the children of today. Who can overestimate the importance of the teachers' influence? Then what position more vitally important than his who chooses those teachers?

In all the modern workaday world who has the keenest interest in the welfare of the children? Assuredly the mothers. Then why not a mother on our school board? In many other cities women have served on school boards creditably. They would doubtless do so here. The Enterprise would like to see a woman with a child or children in school chosen to fill the place to be vacated by Mr. Brown.

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT.

How would you like to journey to the nearest city for a pound of sugar, or a yard of muslin, or a spool of thread, or a smoke? And how would you like to make the trip when you need a prescription filled in a hurry, with death running you a race?

You would make some noise if forced to such an extremity. You would say—justly so—that a town in which you can not buy a pound of sugar, or a yard of muslin, or a spool of thread, or a smoke, or even get a prescription filled, is a mighty poor excuse for a town and not worth living in. Yet our merchants can afford to keep these things for your convenience only as long as you buy other things from them.

It is not doing this town any good to buy the little things here and then chase off to a city or send to a catalogue house when you want something on which the merchant has a chance to make a dollar. Neither is it doing you any good, for the prosperity of each citizen is dependent to a large extent upon the prosperity of the community as a whole.

We are not telling you something you do not know. We are simply refreshing your memory in hopes the time may come when our people will conclude that a town that is worth living in is worth trading in.

That's all.

There are unmistakable indications of a coming change in our economic condition, and this, we hope, will bring many thousands of our wandering boys back to the farms.

Banks throughout the country are tightening up on loans, and are calling in those made for speculative purposes. The public is ceasing to buy as extravagantly as of yore, with the result that manufacturers are of necessity curtailing their output. This is throwing thousands of men out of employment, and many of them are experiencing difficulty in finding other sources of earning a livelihood.

As a rule the farmhand who rushed off to the city is the least experienced in these trades, and it is but natural that he should be among the first to be laid off. What more sane course could he pursue than to return to the farm, where he is an expert and employment is always awaiting him?

Speed the return of the wandering boy. He is welcome before he arrives.

Joy reigns in the heart of the American housewife. She is mightily pleased—even tickled—and all because of sugar.

Every day she reads in the daily papers of how the falling sugar market is squeezing the profiteering gamblers who loaded up on that staple and have been withholding it from the market in order to compel her to pay exorbitant prices and clean up fortunes for themselves in a few months' time.

She reads that many of these gambling hoarders have lost large sums of money through the slump in price, others are in financial distress, and some are on the verge of ruin. And she smiles. Their frantic wails are as sweet to her ears as is the taste of honey to a hungry bear.

Joy be with you, sister. We laugh with you.

The Reds recently captured by the Poles belie their name. They are some blue.

The fellow who thinks before speaking speaks less often but to greater effect.

A wise man never boasts of the money he makes. It might reach the ears of his wife.

Just keep right on voicing your own opinions. Some day you may believe them yourself.

Horse sense is a valuable asset to any community, provided its possession is not limited to horses.

"B. P." bids fair to live in history as signifying "Before Prohibition." But a good joke is seldom forgotten.

With Cox and Harding both handsome men, the male persuasion is at its wit's end to figure out how the women will vote.

And still, Professor Taft and Professor Wilson will not be entirely without claims to distinction. They typify the fat and the lean of it.

So many people are springing into life who were friends of Harding and Cox in former days that one is led to suspect that the entire population of the United States has lived in Ohio at one time or another.

Take a week off—catalogue your many virtues and good qualities—resolve that in future you will double them—and then live up to your resolution. You will have no regrets—and neither will the town.

And still, we can not help admiring the alacrity with which the Russian bolsheviks adapt themselves to circumstances. They certainly are past masters of pushing the breeze when the Poles get after them.

It is reported that the former crown princess of Germany is to marry an American, if she succeeds in obtaining a divorce from her husband. But that is by no means surprising. A charming woman is always ambitious to rise in the world.

Ye Idle Chatter

By B. V. D.

(With Apologies to K. C. B.)

High up on Alpine

Creek we camped,

The senior professor,

The junior professor,

The editor,

It was a scene

Of primal quietude

Where giant redwoods

Reared their lofty crowns

Against an arch

Of spotless blue.

The creek danced merrily

And sang eternal praise

Of Him who said

"Let all these be,"

And hoary mount and

Patriarchal tree

Were born.

We lay on cedar boughs

And drank of strength

From boundless calm

And peaceful solitude.

"This is the life!"

Cried schoolman one,

"This is the life!"

*We echoed fervently.

Beneath the stars we

Slept and joy and peace

And calm were ours

For day and night

Soon sped.

Back to the turmoil

And the strife

We came.

Piled high with work

My desk awaited.

I shed my coat,

Rolled up my sleeves

And plunged into the fray

With heart that sang.

"This is the life!"

I cried, and after all

There is no joy

Like to the joy

Of work.

I THANK YOU.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS FOR FURNISHING AND INSTALLING OF ELECTRICAL FIXTURES IN THE CITY HALL OF THE CITY OF SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Trustees of the City of South San Francisco until eight o'clock p. m. on Monday, the 27th day of September, 1920, for furnishing and installing electrical fixtures in the City Hall of South San Francisco, in the County of San Mateo, State of California.

All material and all work must be in strict compliance with the plans and specifications adopted by the Board of Trustees of the City of South San Francisco on the 8th day of September, 1920, and now on file in the office of the City Clerk. The successful bidder shall enter into a contract with the City of South San Francisco for the faithful performance of the work to be done under said award.

Specifications may be examined in the office of Werner & Coffey, architects, Humboldt Bank Building, San Francisco, California.

All proposals must be accompanied with a certified check upon a solvent bank of the State of California, payable to the City of South San Francisco, in an amount not less than ten (10) per cent of the aggregate of the bid, upon the condition that if the proposal be accepted and the contract awarded, and if the bidder shall fail and neglect to execute the contract and give the bonds required, the sum mentioned in said check shall be liquidated damages for such failure and neglect, and shall be forfeited to and paid into the treasury of the City of South San Francisco.

The bidder to whom is awarded a contract will be required to execute a bond for the faithful performance of his work in an amount equal to twenty-five (25) per cent of the amount of his undertaking, with at least two (2) responsible sureties in the full amount of the bid each; and will also be required, before entering upon the work, to furnish a good and sufficient bond as required by an act of the Legislature of the State of California, approved May 10, 1919, entitled "An act to secure the payment of the claims of persons employed by contractors upon public works, and the claims of persons who furnish materials, supplies, teams, implements or machinery used or consumed by such contractors in the performance of such works, and prescribing the duties of certain public officers with reference thereto, and will also be required to exhibit to said Board of Trustees a policy of insurance showing that said bidder is insured against loss through accident or negligence, in such a way as to satisfactorily protect said City of South San Francisco under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation, Insurance and Safety Act of the State of California."

The contract must be entered into in compliance with and subject to the conditions imposed by Section 653c of the Penal Code of the State of California.

Sealed proposals or bids will be delivered to the City Clerk on or before eight (8) o'clock p. m. on Monday the 27th day of September, 1920.

All sealed proposals or bids will be opened by said Board of Trustees in public session on Monday, the 27th day of September, 1920, at 8 o'clock p. m. in the Council Chamber of said Board.

The Board of Trustees hereby reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of the Board of Trustees of the City of South San Francisco, dated September 8th, 1920.

DANIEL McSWEENEY, City Clerk.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

HOW TO MAKE WAFFLES CRISP AND APPETIZING

2 cups sifted flour.
3 teaspoons baking powder.
1/4 teaspoon salt.
2 teaspoons sugar, if desired.
2 eggs.
1 tablespoon shortening (melted).
1 cup milk (or more).
Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, and sugar. Beat the eggs until light, separating whites and yolks if desired. To the beaten eggs (or yolks) add the shortening and part of the milk, and mix this with the dry materials. Beat thoroughly and add enough more milk (or water) to make a smooth batter about the consistency of thick cream. If the whites were beaten separately, fold them in last.

The waffle irons should be thoroughly clean and smooth. Heat both sides thoroughly and grease with a brush or swab dipped in liquid fat or rub the iron with a piece of fat bacon rind. Place a spoonful of batter in each compartment of the griddle, near the center, close the irons and the batter will fill the compartments. Bake on one side until the edges seem to be browning, then turn the iron and bake the other side until delicately brown.

DRY TIN THOROUGHLY.

For ordinary care, tin utensils should be washed in hot soapy water, rinsed in hot clear water, and dried thoroughly. A tin utensil that has food dried on it should be covered with a weak soda solution, heated for a few minutes, and then washed. Scraping scratches tin and may expose the iron or steel surface underneath, which may rust. Tin darkens with use, and this tarnish protects the tin; therefore tin utensils should not be scoured simply for the sake of making them bright.

ACID REMOVES STAIN ON ZINC.

Zinc darkens with use, but may be brightened by the use of scourers. Zinc on floors, under stoves, and in like places should be scoured with bath-brick and kerosene, washed and rinsed with water, and wiped dry. Zinc on tables, or wherever likely to come in contact with food, should be scoured with bath-brick and water. Acid, as in vinegar or lemon juice, may be used to remove stains on zinc, but should be thoroughly washed off; otherwise, the zinc will tarnish again very soon.

"That seat is taken!" snapped the stout old gentleman in the railway carriage, when the youth sought to move a handbag from the opposite seat. "My—er—friend will be back presently."

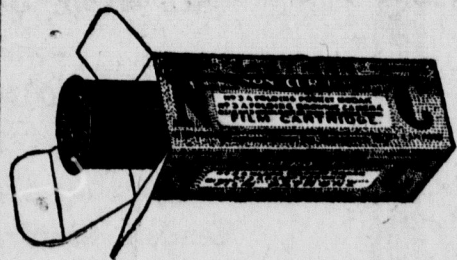

The youth murmured an apology and went out, only to hang about the door. Time passed. Presently the guard blew his whistle and the train started to move. With a bound the lad was back to the carriage and had thrown the bag on the platform.

"How dare you, sir!" gasped the old gentleman. "What did you do that for?"

"Well," said the lad sweetly, "your friend has lost his train, and I didn't want him to lose his bag as well."

Any person can give good advice, but it's quite a different thing to set a good example.

New Silk Gowns, Gay or Sedate

TWO afternoon frocks of widely different styles, but both employing taffeta and lace in combination, present themselves together in the picture above and invite comparison. One of them, with frivolity aforethought, is a fussy little affair of silk and cream-colored lace that has appropriated apron drapery at the front and pannier effect at the sides, elaborating both these simple and quaint ideas until they are hardly to be recognized. It has a plain straight underskirt which does its useful part as a foundation for eccentric drapery. The bodice is smooth fitting and extended over the waistline where it is wrinkled in the semblance of a girdle. Elbow sleeves, ending in frothy puffs of lace and a square neck, also finished with a lace puff, are in keeping with the pannier silhouette which gives this gay dress its character.

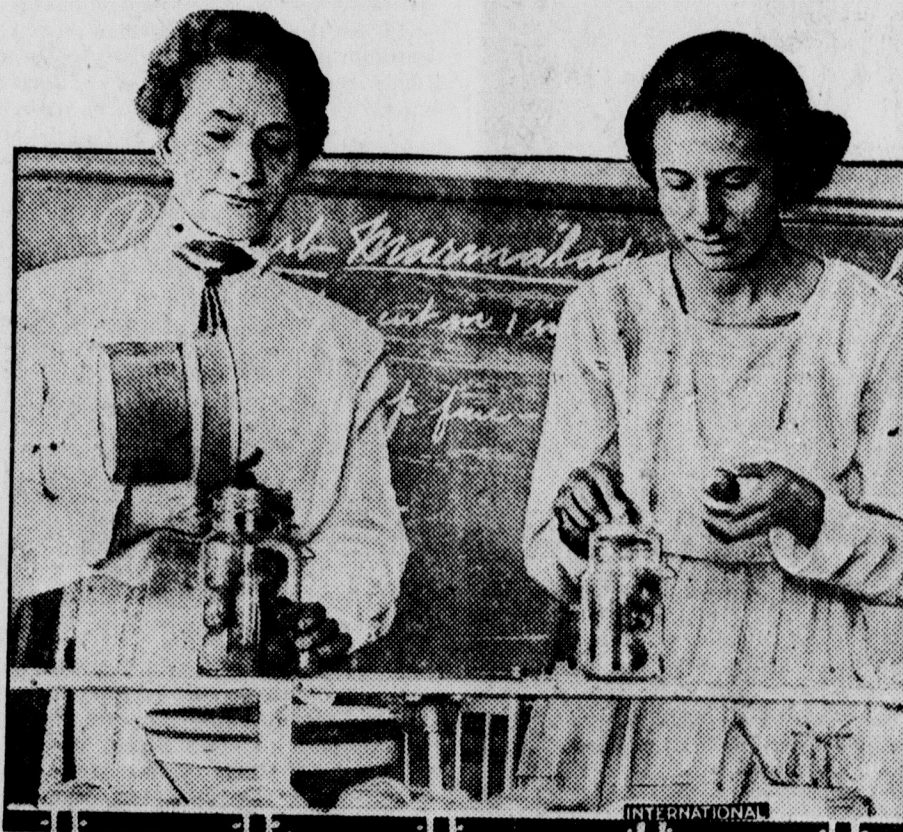

Not a detail of the costume but what plays its part to sustain the style of the frock. Such a costume will re-enforce the personality of light-hearted youth and make the gravest of young persons look gay. There are many colors in which this frock can be successfully developed, but, in any case, it is intended for a youthful wearer.

The other dress of black taffeta and black lace has a long tunic of lace banded with taffeta that hangs full and straight over the underskirt. It has a Quaker bodice with wide silk fichu and a girdle of taffeta tied in a bow at the back. The sleeves are hardly elbow length. Perhaps the wearer is one of those fortunate young women who possess pretty elbows. This frock is one of the new models for fall, youthful and demure looking, and it would be just as alluring made in a color with lace dyed to match the silk.

Descendants of an Indian Chief

Conservation of summer crops has appealed to these two women whose ancestors knew neither glass or tin cans, but were compelled to depend on drying room, wild berries and other fruits. They are Mrs. Lillian Dobson of Boston and her daughter, Miss Lillian, a junior in Radcliffe college. Mrs. Dobson is a great-granddaughter of Great Bear, a famous Cherokee chief. With her daughter she is attending the Greenwood school in Boston to study domestic science.

A man dreamed that he died and went to heaven. He was sitting in a wonderful marble-and-gold lobby when a page with angel wings came along calling, "Mr. Smith, Mr. Smith." The man said: "I'm Mr. Smith." The boy answered: "Mr. Smith, you're wanted on the Outja board."

If the job is harder than you thought it would be, then the logical thing to do is to work harder than you expected.

When you feel that it is unwise to tell even a part of the truth you might compromise by telling the whole of it.

BETTER CARE MEANS FEWER GLOVES MUST BE BOUGHT

Kid gloves may be cleaned at home if one has the time. One method that has seemed practical and is recommended by clothing specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture is to rub the soiled parts of the gloves with cornmeal moistened with enough gasoline to keep the meal from scratching the gloves, then to dry them thoroughly in the air. Another method is to shake them up and down in a fruit jar partly filled with gasoline, changing the gasoline until it remains clear. Gasoline must always be used in the open air, because it is very inflammable and explosive. White kid gloves clean more satisfactorily than colored ones.

Washable kid gloves may be cleaned by putting them on the hands and washing them in lukewarm suds made with neutral white soap, rinsing them thoroughly and drying them slowly. A little talcum rubbed in after the gloves are dry restores the soft finish to many kinds of gloves.

Silk gloves are best washed in cold or lukewarm suds made with good white soap or white soap chips; they should be well rinsed. It is better to wash white silk gloves at night to prevent their turning yellow from the combined effect of light and moisture. Cotton fabric gloves may be washed in lukewarm suds, rinsed, and hung in the air to dry.

If your car balks on Sunday, don't fuss. Go to church instead.

Here It Is Again.

The editor of a certain newspaper in a small Southern town was given an article to print, praising in very elegant language the life and works of a certain Southern colonel.

The colonel and the editor were not the best of friends.

The article came out, but in spelling "scarred" in that very important phrase, "battle-scarred veteran," one "r" was omitted.

The colonel threatened violence, but the editor promised to admit his error in the next issue.

In the following issue, in large type, appeared: "The editor of this paper regrets very much an error in spelling in our last issue. In describing our most worthy colonel, instead of 'battle-scarred veteran,' it should have read 'bottle-scarred veteran.'"

That day the editor ceased to edit. His wife was a widow.—Calhan (Colo.) News.

Legal Stuff.

"What kind of paper were you sent for, my boy?"

"Some of that upset paper."

"Upset?"

"Perhaps he means cap size," interposed the boss.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Limited Space.

She—I noticed their dog wags his tail up and down instead of sideways.—San Francisco Chronicle.

"Of Such is the Kingdom of Heaven"

Inside the great brass statue of Moloch a roaring fire was built on holy days.

And into the seething arms of the pitiless god mothers hurled their screaming infants.

In the South Sea Islands, when either parent died, the children were slain and buried also, to wait the parent in the other world.

In China the girl babies were drowned; in Greece they were exposed upon the bleak and bitter mountainsides.

And even Socrates, the greatest of the Greeks, saw nothing in the practise to condemn.

Thus the ancient heathen world treated its babies.

Who was it that changed the world's thought about children? Who made them the most important citizens of the world?

Jesus of Nazareth. It was He who said "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not."

He gave them the proud privilege of being His friends.

In every age His Church has been the champion of childhood. Dathous, a Christian Bishop, founded the first orphan asylum. All the laws for the protection of children have their roots and their security in His Church.

NOTIZIE DALLA CONTEA IN ITALIANO.

LA RATA PER LA TASSA DELLA CONTEA FISSATA A $2.55 PER $100

La rata per la tassa conteale del futuro anno sara' di $2.55. Questa e' la medesima somma fissata per la rata della tassa l'anno scorso.

La tassa fu fissata ad una riunione dei supervisors tenuta a Redwood City, Martedì passato.

M. B. Johnson, chiese al board della contea di far si che la linea di Ocean Shore non venga abbandonata. L'Avvocato del Distretto Swart fu incaricato di fare un'inchiesta alla Commissione ferroviaria, la quale inchiesta sara' firmata dai Supervisors, e chiederà alla commissione di reggere la questione fino a piu' inoltrata investigazione.

Dopo un lungo dibattito il board nego' la richiesta del Colma Fire District per un'appropriazione di $10,000. Un numero di proteste furono ricevute da proprietari dentro il proposto limite di distretto ed l'avvocato del distretto dette avviso contro l'appropriazione.

BAMBINA UCCISA DA UN UOMO IL QUALE SUICIDASI

Una delle piu' orribile tragedie, le quale siano avvenute nella contea di San Mateo, fu verificata Martedì mattina quando la piccola decenne Thelma Lee di San Bruno fu uccisa con un colpo di revolver da un certo Paul Nelson, uomo di 55 anni, ben conosciuto in South San Francisco.

Il suddetto dopo aver ucciso la poveretta si suicido' con l'arma medesima.

Nelson aveva diverse volte lavorato in South Sa Francisco dove era giudicato un brav' uomo, e crediamo che esso debba essere stato condotto a tal passo da una violenta pazzia di lui impadronitasi.

Durante l'inchiesta tenuta in questa citta' Mercoledì mattina, Water Lee, fratello della bambina, dichiaro' che lui e la sorella se ne andavano a scuola quando avvicinati dal Nelson, questi gli disse che aveva qualcosa per loro, e tolto quindi il revolver di tasca sparò contro la piccola bambina al cervello. Nelson andò poi in una piccola casetta dove aveva vissuto solo e quando il City Marshal William Kid di San Bruno arrivo' sul luogo e gl'intimo di arrendersi, egli si sparò un colpo nella tempia rimanendo cadavere.

Nelson ha vissuto in San Bruno per circa otto anni, e sempre ebbe reputazione di uomo quieto e sobrio.

METAL AND THERMIT CO. PRENDE PERMESSO PER $100,000

Il Metal and Thermit Co. ha preso dal City Clerk McSweeney il permesso per erigere un nuovo stabilimento fra il Virden Packing Co., ed il Rice Mill in questa citta'. Il permesso include che detto stabilimento consista' di un ufficio, un magazzino, una casa manifatture, una casa caldaie ed un garage.

Il costo totale delle costruzioni ammontera' a circa $100,000.

DOTTORE ED INFERMIERA IN CORTE A DALY CITY

Il Dottore Galen Hickok, padrone del "Castello del Mistero" a Salada Beach, dove si crede abbia performato illegali operazioni, insieme alla Signorina Cleo Tevis, l'infermiera impiegata in quel luogo, erano nella corte del Giudice Johnson l'altro Venerdi e Sabato per essere esaminati.

Il Dottore Hickok fu rilasciato sotto cauzione di $3000. La cauzione dell'infermiera fu fissata a $1500. Il quale ammontare, non avendo essa potuto pagare, fu così condotta alle prigioni conteali a Redwood City.

La Signorina Tevis in corte svenne.

MEDEGHINI PRENDE IL CONTRATTO QUALE SPAZZINO PUBBLICO

Nazareno Medeghini ha preso il contratto di pulire le strade di South San Francisco. Il contratto fu dato alla riunione dei Trustees Martedì sera.

Vi furono otto offerte ed essendo quella del Medeghini la piu' bassa a lui fu dato. La di lui offerta fu di $200 il mese. J. M. Costa, il quale ebbe detto lavoro fino a poco tempo fa con un salario di $175 il mese dette le dimissioni statando che esso non poteva fare il lavoro per quella somma.

Avviso e' stato ricevuto dai trustee per mezzo della commissione ferroviaria e l'amministrazione della forza elettrica statale che causa la scarsita' di forza causata dalla poca pioggia caduta l'anno scorso tutto il possibile venga fatto per risparmiare elettricità. Il City Marshal Conrad fu istruito di dare nota ai mercanti della citta' di fermare l'uso della luce fuori delle botteghe la notte ed usare insegne elettriche.

RESTORATION OF SULGRAVE MANOR

People of Prominence of Both England and America Are Identified With the Undertaking.

FEELINGS of nations, as of individuals, change with the passing of time and the animosities of yesterday are buried in the bonds of friendship and close alliance today. This is strikingly illustrated in the present attitude of England toward the United States. Public men and newspapers are insisting that the events leading up to the Revolution and the War of 1812 did not reflect the spirit of the British people, but were due to the influence of England's German kings and that whatever prejudices have existed since have been the result of misunderstanding caused by differences in customs and environment.

The reconciliation movement began before the outbreak of the European war. Its first noticeable manifestation was a projected celebration of the centennial of peace between English-speaking nations. It was given impetus by the stress of war and the desire of Great Britain for American aid in the struggle against Germany.

Exterior of Brington Church, where there are memorials of the Washingtons.

To Make Friendship Visible.

But the thing that will make the friendship between the two nations visible, as it were, to the people of both sides has been proposed by the London Telegraph. It is the restoration, equipment and maintenance of Sulgrave manor, the ancestral home of the Washington family, as a museum and depository of documentary, pictorial and other records of Anglo-American relations. It is intended also that it shall be a rendezvous for all Americans visiting Europe—a sort of unofficial clearing house for tourists, with the added attraction of sentiment, such as attaches to the grave of Washington at Mount Vernon or the home of Shakespeare at Stratford. The Telegraph has started a fund of $125,000 to carry out its plan. The first subscription received was for $500 from King George and the list includes many of the best-known names in England and America. For legal purposes a holding company, to be known as the Sulgrave institution, has been founded. The board of governors, which has charge of the Washington manor house, is constituted as follows:

John W. Davis, American ambassador to Great Britain, chairman; Lord Weardale, treasurer; H. S. Perris, secretary; the Marquis of Crewe, Earl Curzon of Kedleston, Earl Spencer,

First Home of the Washingtons Sulgrave Manor, Northants.

Viscount Bryce, Viscount Cowdray, Sir William Mather, Sir Sidney Lee, Sir Sam Fay, Sir Harry Brittain, Robert P. Skinner, United States consul general; the Rev. Dr. J. Fort Newton, the mayor of Northampton, Robert Bacon, former American ambassador to France; Joseph G. Butler, Jr., W. Curtis Denorest, J. Pierpont Morgan, Gen. T. Coleman du Pont, John A. Stewart, a member of the American peace centenary committee; Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, Robert Donald, J. L. Garvin, John Blair Macafee, Mrs. John W. Davis, Lady Arthur Herbert, Lady Lee of Fareham, Mrs. Woodhull Martin, Lady Paget and Dr. C. Stewart Davison.

On Site of Old Priory.

The manor house at Sulgrave, Northampton, stands on the site of a pre-Reformation priory of the monks of St. Andrew. In 1538 the property was granted by King Henry VIII to Lawrence Washington, mayor of Northampton, whose great-grandson is reputed to have been the great-grandfather of George Washington, first president of the United States, and the general under whose leadership the American colonists forced recognition of independence from Great Britain. On the main doorway are the Washington arms, said to have been the origin of the American national emblem. The royal Tudor arms are still to be seen on the front gable.

Unacquainted.
"Here's just the thing for your new mansion," said the art dealer. "Daub-leigh's famous canvas, 'The Portrait of a Lady.'"
"How much is it with?" asked the man who had recently grown rich in the Texas oil fields.

"Only $100,000."
"What! A hundred thousand bucks for the picture of a lady? Great Christopher, man! I don't even know her!"—Columbian Crew.

Hot Stuff.
A preacher was describing the "bad place" to a congregation of naval cadets.

"Friends," he said, "you've seen molten iron running out of a furnace, haven't you? It comes out white hot, sizzling and hissing. Well—"

The preacher pointed a long, lean finger at the lads.

"Well," he continued, "they use that stuff for ice cream in the place I have just been speaking of."—New York Central Magazine.

Only 3 out of every 100 men leave an estate of $10,000 or over; 17 leave estates of from $2000 to $10,000; 80 leave no estate.

Depends.
"How does your husband regard you," asked Mrs. A—, "as a necessity or a luxury?"
"Well," said Mrs. B—, "it all depends, my dear. When I am asking for a new dress, I am a luxury. When I'm cooking his dinner, I'm a necessity."

Electric Power Consumers:
The following order, No. 113, effective as of August 19th, has been issued by the Power Administrator of the Railroad Commission of the State of California:
(1) The use of electric energy for power purposes, except domestic use and use in connection with growing crops and handling of perishable foods, shall be reduced 20 per cent.
(2) The use of electric energy for the irrigation of vacant lands and of lands from which crops have already been harvested shall not be permitted during the present shortage.
(3) The attention of consumers of power for the irrigation of growing crops shall be called to the fact that unless a large reduction is voluntarily made drastic restrictions will become necessary.
(4) The power companies shall direct the attention of the city officials in their territory to the fact that electric energy used in street, sign and display lighting is being lost for productive purposes, and shall urge them to restrict this use as far as may be consistent with public safety.
(5) The above reductions in the use of electric energy shall be made, as far as possible, between the hours of 7 a. m. and 10 p. m.
We respectfully urge our consumers to realize the importance of this order, which applies to all power companies operating in North-Central California. It has been made necessary by the shortage of water power occasioned by the unusual drought and consequent extreme diminution of stream-flow in the power sources of the State, to say nothing of the constantly growing demand for power for agricultural, industrial and other purposes.
We ask our consumers to assist the Power Administrator and ourselves in prompt compliance with this order, so that the various industries relying upon electric power for their operation and maintenance may not be called upon to suffer a further reduction of supply before the close of the present dry season.

Equal Rights -Matrimonial

Mary Graham Bonner

RAYMOND WELLMAN had voted for suffrage once and he intended to do so again. It was before New York women had succeeded in obtaining the vote and Raymond had always thoroughly approved of women. It was not that he fell in love frequently—he had never been in love before, but still he considered that beside women, men counted for very little. Somehow women could even make more money than men—that is, when they did make money at all—and when they started out to work they were always successful.

It was the day of the great suffrage parade. He stood on the densely crowded sidewalk and watched the women march by.

And as he saw Mildred Aldrich march by, head erect, leading her division, Raymond's heart leaped and he felt as if a voice within him had suddenly proclaimed to all the marchers: "You're all splendid, every one of you, but there is one, just one of you, who is everything in the world!"

Mildred gave an informal supper at her studio after the parade. Mildred's parents were dead and she had come to New York to work her way.

They had the jolliest of times that evening, but after the others had left Raymond lingered for a moment.

"May I stay?" he asked. And Mildred smiled her answer. She showed him a new baby's head she had just made for which she had received $500. For Mildred had already taken her place in the ranks of the leading sculptors and her work commanded large sums.

Raymond started one topic of conversation after another. Then he stopped abruptly.

"Oh, hang it all, Mildred," he exclaimed, "this is no way to do it, but you know I'm not well versed in the art—and, anyhow—my point is—I want to marry you!"

"I've thought of this for a long time," said Mildred. "It's nonsense to pretend I'm surprised to hear what you've said."

He leaned forward and took her hand. She wondered if he was going to kiss her, and he was wondering just why he didn't seem to feel like kissing her.

"Well, I know you're tired, my dear," he said affectionately, "so I'll be on my way. You've had a big day and I've had a bigger one."

"Good night," Mildred said in a low voice. Raymond took her hand again and held it to his lips for a moment.

They talked of marrying after the war, for Raymond had received his commission in the air service and was going abroad.

When he returned, just six months after peace had come, they both seemed to feel something missing in their feelings. Both knew they should be so glad, so gay, so happy, so relieved. Mildred found herself becoming nervous and irritable.

"Are you sure," she asked him one night with an inexplicable expression in her eyes, "that you love me as much as you did?"

"I'm quite sure," Raymond answered, but in his mind he was asking himself if he was just as fond of her as he had been. He felt he was—but really it was something else that was worrying him. He knew now that he had never been as fond of her as he might have been. He admired her so much, he loved to talk to her, but he never seemed to be able, now that the time grew closer, to think of her in his home as his wife, possibly as a mother. Mildred working, doing tremendously big things, Mildred making the loveliest of babies' heads in plaster, this was the Mildred he knew, but he couldn't picture Mildred with a baby of her own. He couldn't quite visualize it and he was annoyed at himself because he couldn't.

They had settled on the date of their wedding—it would take place on the Fourth of July. They felt it was the most significant date upon which they could be married, with their ideas of independence and equality and liberty and democracy. At least Mildred had decided that.

Raymond had been home two weeks when Mildred told him she had asked her cousin, Elizabeth Irving, who lived in the west, to help her in these last weeks. Elizabeth had written she would be delighted to come. She was expected now any day.

Raymond couldn't understand Mildred's interest in the details of the wedding. And as he wondered, the doubts once banished came hastening back. She was tremendously engrossed in her life work—her artistry—and he realized it so forcibly now.

He spent sleepless nights when he thought that he had missed his chance for happiness by making such a dreadful mistake in the main step of his life. Life could be so wonderful, so complete, he reflected, or it could be so woefully incomplete and miserable.

It was an unusually chilly day for May, when he went to her studio. Her cousin had just arrived. She was a striking contrast to Mildred, who was of statuesque beauty, tall and fair with clear, penetrating blue eyes. This girl was younger and rather short. Her eyes were gray, her hair black and wavy, her skin dark with color which came and went.

"Here's Elizabeth Irving," Mildred

said, as Raymond entered. "Our cousin," she smiled.

"I'm glad to welcome you here," he said after a moment.

"I have to finish some work tonight," said Mildred, after they had finished tea. "I'm ever so sorry, as I did so want to see that play we have tickets for. But I've been neglecting things so shamefully and I must settle down and get a little more work accomplished so I can take my holiday later! Why don't you take Beth in my place, Raymond?"

So it was decided upon and he stayed for dinner. Throughout the meal it seemed to be thrust upon him repeatedly how different this cousin was, how strangely and instantly he felt himself drawn to her, and he felt disloyal and small and wretched.

"Didn't I tell you she had ideas tucked away?" asked Mildred laughing at a remark of Beth's.

They went to the play and as Raymond brought her home in the taxi he kept repeating to himself, "You won't make trouble here. You mustn't make trouble here." He had always hated that situation known as the eternal triangle, yet here it was rearing itself before him. He shuddered.

Somehow as he talked to this girl from the west he felt how close she was to him and he was filled with a longing to seize her and hold her very close and kiss her soft unruly hair, and those very red lips which he had already heard say some quite astonishing things. Why had he never felt that way toward Mildred? he asked himself.

Mildred seemed to grow busier as the days passed. Perhaps, Raymond reflected, she was putting him to a test, and he redoubled his efforts to be particularly affectionate and considerate.

So it went on. The wedding was three weeks away. In a few days the invitations would be out. Beth had been busy all one day addressing them, as had Mildred. In the evening he was going to help them.

He arrived early and Beth opened the door.

"Mildred is out," she said. "Some one telephoned her. It was very urgent. A child of a neighbor is dangerously ill and they were at wit's ends and wanted Mildred to help them. She said she would be back in less than an hour. Shall we begin? Here are the lists. We've addressed a good many. These are the ones for the church and here are the cards for those who are to be asked here afterward."

Their pens squeaked along for about 15 minutes. Neither had spoken.

"You'll make her very happy, won't you?" asked Beth softly, with a tiny break in her voice. "Mildred's the finest girl I know. And she has had a lonely sort of a life, I think."

"I hope I'll make her happy," he answered, without looking up.

"She has seemed so different lately," Beth continued. "I don't believe she was called out tonight anywhere. I've had a suspicion that she just made it up—that story of the neighbor's child. I think she has gone out to walk and walk and walk. She has been pacing the floor at night almost ever since I came. I think she thinks—"

Beth stopped.

"Do you think she thinks—that we're—that we've grown fond—"

Raymond began.

Beth nodded.

"It has been lately, since these invitations have come and we've been addressing them," Beth continued. "She has let some queer remarks slip."

And suddenly Raymond noticed that Beth's eyes were slightly red and that she had let two tears fall on an envelope.

"My dear," Raymond said, "you do love me? I'm right, you love me so much, so much."

He was at her side now, his arm tight around her.

"Stand up!" he commanded. "Now kiss me! Now! I must kiss you . . . This once . . . Never again. Oh, my own, my own," he murmured, as Beth's shoulders shook and she trembled in his arms.

"I must have given you a bad time of it," she said. "But doesn't it seem absurd," she asked Raymond, "when we believe in equal rights for women, equal mental, financial, municipal rights, that we don't yet believe in equal matrimonial rights for both?"

We've boasted that we were both ideal citizens of this democracy believing in liberty. And I thought the day of independence was none too good as a wedding day for two such independent people. We've both been wrong, and neither of us would admit it, so we went on blindly, stumbling and almost falling. We're fine ones to talk of independence, of equal rights, both of us. But, oh, I'm glad! So glad!" she repeated.

And her eyes shone with an unmistakable love for them both, a grateful, inspiring love because of the realization that the opportunity which would make them both happy was the trail of happiness for herself.

A slight sound started them and turning they both saw Mildred.

"Mildred!" cried Beth and flew from the room. But Mildred called her back.

"Listen to me! Both of you! You must listen to me. I know now," she said, looking at Raymond, "that we both made a hideous mistake, but up to tonight I only thought I had made it. I've been so worried, so nervous, I've tried to forget everything in my work and you've been dearer and kinder to me so that I've felt miserable. I tried to make myself believe I loved you. I wanted love and marriage so much. Then as the time passed and the wedding grew nearer I felt that I couldn't go through with it. But I didn't see what I was to do! It wasn't the thing I thought it was. There was always something missing.

"I suppose I didn't realize anything like this—because I was so worried, so absorbed in myself."

Raymond was looking at her, still dazed. "And you don't love me?" he repeated incredulously.

"Oh, the eternal man!" laughed Mildred. "You can't believe that I actually don't love you! Oh, I understand. I'm not being any martyr sacrificing myself because I see you love another. I'm happy, so happy! I want to work and work and work until I find some one who can make me love him better than work. It's not that I'm so mighty fond of my career; I would always keep on, but when I marry I want someone who means more to me than anything—that's what I want and need!"

"Mildred, you dear," Beth kept repeating, "and that's why you have been unhappy and nervous and have gone flying out of the studio so often."

"I must have given you a bad time of it," she said. "But doesn't it seem absurd," she asked Raymond, "when we believe in equal rights for women, equal mental, financial, municipal rights, that we don't yet believe in equal matrimonial rights for both?"

We've boasted that we were both ideal citizens of this democracy believing in liberty. And I thought the day of independence was none too good as a wedding day for two such independent people. ## Her Silence.

Young Aldrich was waiting in the parlor for his loved one to appear, when her small brother came in and took a seat.

"Well, Chester," said Aldrich, "what did your sister say when you told her I was waiting?"

"Why, she didn't say nothing," replied the small brother. "She just took a ring off one finger and put it on another."

Classified Himself.

A little fellow aged five arrived home from school while the family was all at the lunch table. With a disgusted look on his face he said: "Say, ma, some of the kids in our class didn't know how to spell 'sarcastic.'"

"Well, dear," replied his mother, "how do you spell it?"

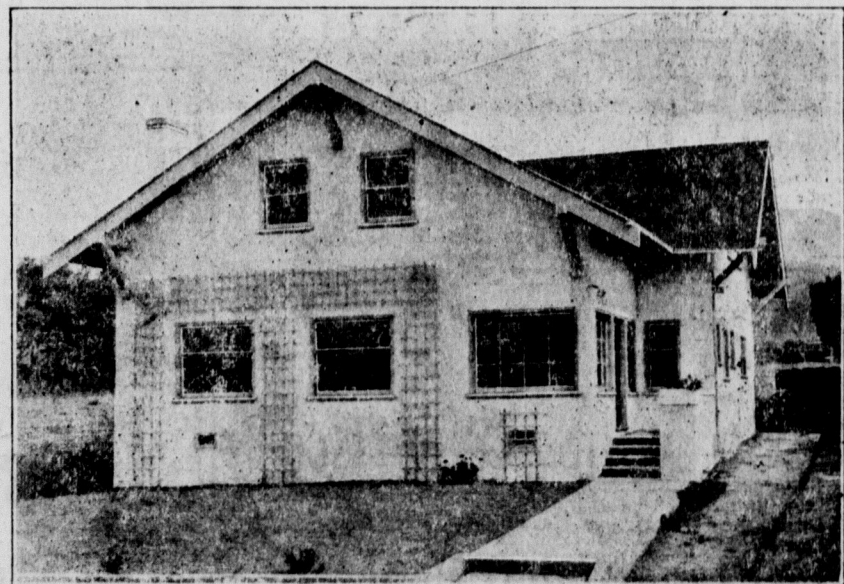

"Me?" he asked. "Oh, I was one of them."

THIRD INSTALLMENT OF INCOME TAXES DUE SEPT. 15

At the office of Collector of Internal Revenue Justus S. Wardell it was announced that bills for the third installment of federal income taxes for 1919, due on or before Wednesday, September 15th, have been mailed to 30,000 taxpayers in this district who have installment accounts with the government.

"Failure of a taxpayer to receive a bill does not relieve him of his obligations to pay his tax within the time specified," said Collector Wardell. "To avoid penalties and interest the tax must be in the office of the collector on or before the third installment due date."

"Failure to make the necessary payment on or before September 15th subjects the taxpayer to a penalty of from 5 to 25 per cent of the tax and interest at the rate of 1 per cent per month until the tax is paid."

ARMLESS MAN GETS PILOT'S LICENSE AT REDWOOD CITY

Loxia C. Thornton of Fresno, who lost both his upper limbs in a railroad accident several years ago, was graduated from the Varney aviation school at Redwood City last Sunday and was recommended to the Aero Club of America for a pilot's license. He has been a student at the school for about a month.

Thornton handles his control with the hooks that serve him in place of fingers as deftly and surely as any other pilot.

BACK FROM TRIP TO L. A.

Mrs. Charles Ulmer and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lundberg have returned from a ten-day trip to Los Angeles and report having had a most enjoyable time. Mr. and Mrs. Lundberg motored south and back again, while Mrs. Ulmer went by train and returned by stage as far as Morgan Hill, where she stopped a day or two for a visit with friends.

He Might Have.

The train drew up with a mighty crash and shock between stations. "Is it an accident?" inquired a worried-looking individual of the conductor. "Some one pulled the bell cord!" shouted the conductor. "The express knocked our last car off the track! Take us four hours before the track is clear!"

"Great Scott! Four hours! Why, man, I am to be married today!" groaned the passenger.

The conductor, a bigoted bachelor, raised his eyebrows suspiciously. "Look here!" he demanded. "I suppose you ain't the chap that pulled the cord?"

Why He Didn't.

"I want you to walk more," said the doctor. "A good long walk will give you a fine appetite." "That's just it," said the patient. "That's the reason I don't walk. I can't afford a fine appetite."

"There is one word in the English language that represents a mole hill today and a mountain tomorrow—'scandal.'"

UPPER CLASSMEN ENTERTAIN FRESHMEN AT HIGH SCHOOL

The South San Francisco high school was the scene of a merry gathering last Friday, when the upper classmen entertained the freshman class. Many jolly games and "stunts" filled the evening hours. One was a "circus," where each person taking part imitated an animal. There were several tugs-of-war, one between freshmen girls and boys being won by the girls, and one between the freshmen and sophomore boys being won by the freshmen. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served during the evening.

COSTA-DEVILIN WEDDING CELEBRATED AT REDWOOD

Albert Costa of South San Francisco and Miss Irene Devlin of Daly City were united in marriage in Redwood City last Saturday morning. Miss Mabel Costa, sister of the bridegroom, and Frank Trigueiro were present at the ceremony and stood up with the happy couple. After the wedding the party attended a dinner at Tait's, following which Mr. and Mrs. Costa departed for Santa Cruz and Monterey on a honeymoon. They expect to make their home in San Francisco.

The Missing Link.

A man came into a store with a very small dog under his arm. An Irishman was standing near and after a few moments of close observation he asked the stranger what breed his dog was. The man replied that he was a cross between an ape and an Irishman. "Faith, then," replied Pat, "he is kin to both of us."

Little Elsie had been to a Christian Endeavor meeting and had seemed to enjoy it. Next day she was writing to her grandma. "How do you spell 'devil'?" she asked her mother. "It isn't a very nice word for a little girl to use," said her mother. "Why do you want to know?" "Oh, I was just writing to grandma about that Christian an' Devil meeting I went to last night."

Didn't Hit It Right.

The husband arrived home much later than usual "from the office." He took off his boots and stole into the bedroom. His wife began to stir. Quickly the panic-stricken man went to the cradle of his first-born and began to rock it vigorously.

"What are you doing there, Robert?" queried his wife.

"I've been sitting here for nearly two hours trying to get this baby to sleep," he growled.

"Why, Robert, I've got him here in bed with me," replied his wife.

He Knew.

"I think Mr. Smith is a wonderful husband," said Mrs. Jones. "I heard him speaking in the most beautiful way of his wife to a lady on the train the other day."

"Yes, I heard that, too," said Mrs. Green; "but don't forget, my dear, that the woman Mr. Smith was talking to was his new cook."

The Public Protests.

Two locomotive engineers met on the street. Bill sang out to Jim: "We voted to strike at the meeting today, but I didn't see you there."

"No," replied Jim, "I couldn't get downtown on account of the street car men's strike. Those fellows haven't any consideration at all for the public."—Wroe's Writing.

INVESTMENT—NOT EXPENSE.

Why is it that so many gents charge advertising to expense. When advertising foots their bills When advertising fills their tills— When advertising is the thing That makes the profit coffers rings?

It brings in orders—paves the way For comfort when the rainy day Hard hits the poor and hapless geek Whose big old boat has sprung a leak. Because he hasn't advertised, Because he hasn't realized That competition sometimes slips Up from behind on sleepy ships And rams their hulls before they know Just why they're being treated so.

You bet the guy who's good and wise Will go ahead and advertise When he is takin' in the coin— Then advertising girds his loins With one of those Aladdin belts That save a lot o' fellers' pelts. —Paul Yount in D. & W. Chats.
